

CASE

MANDEL SCHOOL OF APPLIED SOCIAL SCIENCES

MARVIN ROSENBERG, Ph.D.

Faculty Biographical Sketch

Marvin Rosenberg is Associate Professor at the Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences, Case Western Reserve University. He completed his doctoral coursework in Social Welfare at Case Western Reserve University in 1968, his MA in Social Welfare in 1962 at and completed the BA from Cleveland College at Western Reserve University in 1951. He teaches the social policy, family and child policy, discrimination and oppression (DDO) Ethics in social work service delivery, and social problems courses. Dr. Rosenberg's affiliations are with the Center for Professional Ethics, Drama/Discuss Project "Voices of Diversity".

- Social Policy, Family and Child Policy, Discrimination and Oppression (DDO), Ethics in Social Work Service Delivery, Social Problems
- Applied Ethics, Poverty, Racism, Social Policy, International Social Work, Theater related to teaching ethics
- Education Theater Writing and Directing